Summary

Full Stack Web Development Graduate seeking a Jr Web Developer position to expand and grow in the web skills I acquired during my studies at the University of Utah Web Development bootcamp.

Technical Skills

Languages: HTML, Handlebars, CSS, Bootstrap, Javascript, jQuery, Git, Markdown, Node js, Express, mySQL, MongoDB, React, API Consumption.

Applications: VS Code, Github, Heroku.

Projects

Weather Site | github.com/hockeyduck3/Weather-Site | hockeyduck3.github.io/Weather-Site

I created a simple Weather Site using the OpenWeather api. You can search for a city name or zip code to find local weather about that area.

Languages: HTML, CSS, Bootstrap, jQuery.

Eat-Dat-Burger | github.com/hockeyduck3/Eat-Dat-Burger | eat-dat-burger-website.herokuapp.com

This is a simple burger eating website I made to show off how a mySQL server could be used. When the user types in the name of a burger, it will show up on the left side. Then when the user clicks on the burger name it will show up on the right.

Languages: Handlebars, CSS, Bootstrap, jQuery, Node js, Express, mySQL.

Poke-Build | github.com/Akessler314/DREAM-TEAM | poke-build.herokuapp.com

This was my second group project in my Full Stack Web course. My team and I wanted to not only push ourselves, but make something that was really fun! My role on this project was handling the Frontend UI, Javascript, and assisting on the Backend side when needed.

Languages: Handlebars, CSS, Bootstrap, jQuery, Node, Express, and Sequelize.
